

Points of Interest

The first thing that hits you as you walk in the north eastern entrance of Stationers Park is the sound of running water from the striking watercourse flowing through the park. It starts as a small lake at the top of the slope, and pours down a waterfall into the river below. People of all ages enjoy watching this stunning feature and its array of plants and wildlife from the nearby footpaths or bridge.

There is a permanent member of staff based at Stationers Park.
