Protect your child against polio

Polio virus is spreading in London so children aged 1 to 9 are being offered a dose of polio vaccine. For some children this may be an extra dose on top of their routine vaccinations. For other children it may bring them up to date with their routine vaccinations.

Polio virus is a life-threatening infection of the nerves that can cause serious disability, permanent paralysis or even death. Polio is preventable and vaccination is the best protection against the disease.

All children in England are offered 5 doses of polio vaccine as part of the routine NHS vaccination schedule:

- Babies are given jabs to protect against polio and other diseases at the age of 8 weeks, 12 weeks and 16 weeks.
- A booster given at 3 years and 4 months keeps them protected for longer.
- A final booster at around 14 years old keeps them protected for life.

If your child hasn't had all of their jabs, contact your doctor today to get them protected.

Anyone in England can register with a doctor at a GP surgery. It's free to register. You do not need proof of address or immigration status, ID or an NHS number.

Find your local GP surgery at:
nhs.uk/nhs-services/gps/

Find the nearest site to you offering walk-in polio vaccinations:
