

A black and white photograph of a forest floor. A narrow, light-colored path or stream bed runs vertically through the center of the image. The ground is covered with various plants, including ferns and leafy vegetation. In the upper right corner, there is a white rectangular label with handwritten text. The overall scene is a dense, natural setting.

Woodland path 2